AMERICA'S FOOD SUPPLY

In spite of President Truman's recent announcement that U. S. citizens would eat less and darker bread during 1946 in order that we might help feed Europe's starving millions, officials of the Department of Agriculture have explained that we can carry out our commitments to aid the hungry people of Europe and Asia and still require no belt-tightening by Americans. This, of course, is assuming that the weather for crop production this year will be average or better and that the nation's farmers will equal or exceed the production goals set for them by the Department of Agriculture.

U. S. officials several months ago made commitments to export approximately 225,000,000 bushels of wheat during the first six months of this year, and in order to meet his commitment they have announced their intention of squeezing more wheat out of the regular consuming channels by (1) putting limitations on wheat fed to livestock (which may reduce the number of chickens on farms and postpone a threatened egg surplus), (2) adjusting subsidies to hog growers to force them to market a fairly large number of "heavy" hogs, and (3) requiring the millers to extract 80 percent, rather than the present 72, of flour from wheat. It is stated that this latter may give us flour and bread fairly darker in color but that it will be even higher in protein and other nutrients.

Even with this large export of wheat during the coming months, U. S. tables probably will be better stocked than they were last year, or at any time during the war. American civilians got 81 percent of the food supply last year, and this year probably will get nearer 90 percent due to the fact that the military will only require about 4 percent of our food output during 1946 as compared with some 14 percent last year. This compares with the 5 to 6 percent which starving foreigners and those dependent upon American food will get—which is about the same as they got last year. One of the principal obstacles worrying those responsible is the transportation and distribution of food exports which they are now trying to unsnarl so that we can meet our commitments now, while Europe's need is greatest.

As during 1945, the ability of consumers to buy will exceed the supply of some food commodities, principally butter and sugar, but it is not thought that there will be many, if any, other scarce food items. The principal differences in this year's diet as compared with last year's and those of prewar years will be as follows:

WHEAT—will be consumed at the rate of 157 pounds of flour per person as compared with 161 pounds last year.

MEATS—will be more plentiful than in any previous year with beef providing about 63 pounds of the total meat consumption as compared with 55 pounds last year. Pork, which was frequently quite scarce during 1945, will have a per capita consumption of about 70 pounds as compared with 59 pounds last year.

CHICKENS—will continue to be plentiful and will account for about 29 pounds of the average meat diet. EGGS—will probably be less plentiful and the yearly consumption will be 365 per person as compared to 390 last year (an all-time high).

MILK—will be adequate to provide 810 pounds of dairy products per person as compared with 802 pounds last year.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ACTIVITIES

SLOGAN CONTEST

The Slogan Contest inaugurated by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce closed on the 28th day of February with a record number of contestants entered. All slogans are now in the hands of the judges who were appointed by the executive committee, however, due to the great number of slogans entered and the desire of the judges to pick the slogan which best describes the economic, cultural and possibilities, it will take some time to make their decision due to the fact that an elimination will have to take place and a final analysis made on a single entry. Each and every slogan will be given full and impartial consideration and it is expected that not only will the winning slogan be used on all the Chambers advertising but that the merchants will adopt it in theirs.

NEW PROJECT SOUGHT

It is expected that sometime next week the Board of Directors will journey to New Orleans to meet the executives of a large financial institution and put before them a proposition which your Chamber has been fostering and making a survey of for some time. The project if consummated would give employment to hundreds of people in this County and would be a decided factor in the future industrial growth of this County.

DEHYDRATOR

The dehydrator recently purchased by the Hancock Stock Feed Co., is expected to be delivered by the manufacturer on March 15th and it is hoped that after installation the public and the farmers, especially will avail themselves of the opportunity of inspecting this machine and receive first hand information on the dehydration of sweet potatoes for livestock feed which in the final analysis will save them money as well as keeping it in this County.

MINNEAPOLIS MILLERS

It won't be long before the Minneapolis Millers headed by our own Zeke Bonura as manager will arrive for their spring training. The playing field is in splendid condition, the shower and rub-down rooms have been completed as well as the lockers, for each player and it is expected that prior to the arrival of the team the stands will have been completed.

The organization grew out of a need for a closer fellowship with the men of the town who are interested in meeting and talking over civic and church problems and all men are welcome to join the group regardless of their church affiliations—in other words it is not strictly a Baptist organization.

This is an appeal for sugar from anyone who can spare even so small an amount as a cup. No one wants to see Mr. and Mrs. Maurigi discontinue this offering because of lack of sugar so if you can supply any sugar please notify Mr. and Mrs. Maurigi, 215 Main Street, Phone 410-W not later than March 12. ## SWEET POTATO TALK

Editor's Note:

This story tells how a Jones County 4-H Club boy made over $1,000 from his 3 1/4 acres of sweetpotatoes. This 4-H boy said he started to find work in town, but chagned his mind after becoming interested in the Extension Service project.

By Fred Buckley
Jones County 4-H Club Member

Agricultural Extension men of the county, at a 4-H Club meeting, gave details of the Special 4-H Club Sweetpotato Project, which was being sponsored by the Sweetpotato Growers, Inc., Dehydrating Unit. Before this meeting, I had made up my mind to work in town during the summer months, but after hearing the discussion I decided that it was a good project and that I would try it.

Extension representatives visited my farm and made suggestions with reference to the best type of land and also fertilizer recommendations for the sweetpotato crop. I secured from the Dehydration Unit, Laurel, 18 bushels of Copper Skinned, Porto Rican sweetpotatoes which had been carefully hand picked and treated. Before receiving these potatoes I made hot beds on our farm and was ready to bed the potatoes as soon as I reached home with them. These potatoes cost me $2.25 per bushel which included the cost of dipping. Instructions were given by Extension workers as to the proper construction of open sweetpotato beds.

Leaf mold barnyard manure was used in the bottom of the bed. No feeds in the farm of sweetpotatoes had been fed to livestock; therefore, there was no chance of black rot being scattered in barnyard manure. A layer of leaf mold was placed on top of the barnyard manure then sweetpotatoes were placed on top of the leaf mold so that no potato was touching another. Then these potatoes were covered with top soil. Within about a month the potatoes had sprouted and were large enough to be planted. This was done by hand method. Plants were placed in the drill from 14 to 16 inches. It was not necessary that I water plants since I had a good season for planting.

I selected a new bedding place this year. After lands had been selected, I flat broke with two-horse turning plow and bedded in 3 1/2 foot rows. I used 800 pounds of 4-8-8 fertilizer in the drill and later side dressed with 50 pounds of potash per acre at laying-by time. As soon as plants began growth I side harrowed, ran around, ran middles, and ran around the second time and plowed out. The potatoes were planted on a high bed as Extension men advised. I hoed potatoes one time and later chopped out the large weeds found in the patch.

Before digging time Extension men from State College and locally, scheduled sweetpotato digging and grading demonstrations. I did not attend the demonstration held in the Hebron Community but did attend the one held in Ellisville as I was in school there. Extension men showed proper methods of digging, assorting, and placing in crates for delivery to the curing house or the dehydrating unit. This is the first time that I had ever graded potatoes in the field at digging time and was the first time that I had been so careful in handling potatoes. Extension men had stated that the least number of times a potato is handled, the least number of bruises you will have and therefore the better chances are of keeping.

This year I planted 3 1/4 acres in Porto Rican sweetpotatoes and I sold 28 tons at an average of $42 per ton. When my potatoes are sold later after being cured, washed, waxed, and shipped, I expect to get a little more than the $42 per ton, for my 254.5 bushels. No potatoes in storage. I won $15 in premiums at the South Mississippi Fair on sweetpotato exhibit. I also won the district trip to Jackson to the State 4-H Round-up on truck crops, receiving a $25 War Bond other than the all-expense trip. I have saved at least 30 bushels of sweetpotatoes for seed for bedding next year.

I have been in 4-H Club work for 6 years and have used sweetpotatoes as a project for the past 5 years. This year I have made more money on the Sweetpotato Project than ever before and I hope that this project, sponsored by Sweetpotato Growers, Inc., Dehydrating Unit, will continue for years to come. I believe that a 4-H Club boy can make more cash money on sweetpotatoes than any other row crop. I have always been top winner on all potatoes displayed during the last five years at the South Mississippi Fair. I could not have made the record I did this year on sweetpotatoes if it had not been for the Extension workers from the College and within the county. They have assisted me at all times and I appreciate this very much.

The hospital has recently received its new nurses' desk which is proving a great convenience.

Recent gifts to the hospital are an almost complete set of dishes from Mrs. W. L. Bourgeois. When Mrs. Bourgeois closed her family hotel she packed the dishes for the hospital. An anonymous friend sent a dozen cups and saucers. Miss Geraldine Ames sent a dozen teaspoons. ## ORTTE THEATRE SUNDAY - MONDAY "WEEK-END AT THE WALDORF"

Starring Van Johnson, Lana Turner, Ginger Rogers, Walter Pidgeon

Thrills, romance and intrigue have been deftly blended in "Week-End at the Waldorf" to bring us one of the year's outstanding movies. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the producers, have spared no talent to make the new picture, Sunday and Monday at the Ortte Theatre, an undeniable hit.

A glance at the cast is sufficient to underscore what is meant. There are Ginger Rogers, Lana Turner, Walter Pidgeon, Van Johnson, Edward Arnold, Robert Benchley, Kee-Wynn, Phyllis Thaxter, Lina Romay and Xavier Cugat and his orchestra.

All of these are at their best in an enchanting and clever story of 48 hours at the world's most famous luxury hotel in New York. Miss Rogers, as a glamorous but lonely movie star, has checked in to attend the premiere of her new picture. Miss Turner, as the public stenographer, has very private ideas about love; she is desperately seeking to escape from the Tenth Avenue where she was born, in favor of a penthouse on Park Avenue.

Pidgeon is a weary war correspondent, fresh from the battlefields and about to go overseas again. All he wants to do is sleep, but the ingenious plot brings him to the suite occupied by Miss Rogers and—well, you'll have to see for yourself what happens. Van Johnson plays an Army flier with a shrapnel wound near his heart which necessitates a major operation he may not survive. This week end may be his last, so loaded down with flying pay, he is all set for a last fling—until he meets Lana.

These two wonderful romances provide the main plots of the story. There is also Edward Arnold, as a shady oil operator, who is attempting to "con" his way into a million-dollar deal involving a visiting potentate from the Near East. All of these turn in excellent performances, under the deft direction of Robert Z. Leonard. The picture has been produced in the usual distinguished M-G-M manner by Arthur Hornblum, Jr.

You'll surely enjoy "Week-End at the Waldorf," so put it on your "must-see" list.

"THE BELLS OF ST. MARY'S" at A. & G. THEATRE SUNDAY-MONDAY-TUESDAY

Brings Back Bing Crosby in Priest's Role, With Ingrid Bergman Co-Starring—Academy Winners United in Charming Screen Offering

Three winners of last year's Academy awards are associated in "The Bells of St. Mary's," a Rainbow production for RKO Radio release. Producer-Director Leo McCarey and Bing Crosby who won their awards for "Going My Way" are joined by Ingrid Bergman, who was similarly rewarded for her starring role in "Gaslight."

In "The Bells of St. Mary's" Crosby portrays the same character, that of Father O'Malley, that he played with great success in "Going My Way." As the newly appointed pastor of St. Mary's parochial school, his ideas of educating the young do not always coincide with those of the nuns under Sister Benedict, the Sister Superior, played by Miss Bergman, but a saving sense of humor on both sides unites them in their spiritual labors on behalf of humanity. These conflicts are handled with a delightful delicate touch, and are responsible for some of the picture's most enjoyable and diverting sequences.

Though the action takes place in cloistered surroundings, the problems and conflicts in the story are those of richly humorous and essentially human vein.

Crosby sings four well-loved numbers, "Adeste Fideles," "The Bells of St. Mary's," "In the Land of Beginning Again," and "Sanctissima," and a new number, "Aren't You Glad You're Young?" Miss Bergman sings for the first time in her screen career, a short Swedish folksong, while the boys' choir is heard in devotional chorals.

The supporting cast is headed by Henry Travers as the wealthy cynic, Joan Carroll as a neglected wait who finds hope for a new life at St. Mary's, William Gargan as her father, Martha Sleeper as her mother, Ruth Donnelly as Sister Benedict's constant companion, Rhys Williams, Dickie Tyler and Una O'Connor.

HOME AGENT NOTES

BUYING POTS AND PANS

If you are planning on investing in the aluminum and stainless steel kettles and pans, now reappearing in stores, here are eight points to check on for a good buy.

1. Balance. The pan and its handles should be well-balanced so that the pan stands steady even when empty. Too heavy a handle makes a tipsy pan that is awkward to use and may cause dangerous spills of hot water or food.

2. Surface. The smoother the pan—the fewer the cracks or joinings, the more durable and easy to clean it will be.

3. Bottom. A flat bottom helps to keep a pan steady and means faster heating and more economical use of fuel on electric, coal or wood ranges. Pans for use on electric stoves should have dull-finished bottoms to save fuel. A dull finish absorbs heat in contrast to a shiny finish which reflects it.

4. Sides. Straight sides are more economical of heat and also of space on the stove than flaring sides.

5. Handles. Handles of pans and covers should be comfortable to grasp and insulated against heat.

6. Cover. A close-fitting cover is essential for many cooking processes, so buying a pan and cover together is often worth the extra money.

7. Thickness. Thin lightweight sheet aluminum is less expensive, lighter to handle but also less durable than the heavy cast metal. Thin ware is more easily dented, bent and scorched than heavy ware. Buy heavy pans for heavy use—those for everyday cooking, for a job like mashing potatoes, and for the heavy handed or absent-minded cook.

8. Metal. Stainless steel is more durable than aluminum of the same weight and thickness. It does not darken in cooking alkaline foods as aluminum does, but, once darkened by overheating or scorching it can be brightened as aluminum can. Aluminum has the advantage of spreading heat more evenly, so cooks more evenly with less chance of scorching.

Waste fats are still needed. Keep on saving and turning them in.

HOME FURNISHINGS AND EQUIPMENT

New materials for most household furnishings and equipment are abundant. The finished products available in 1946 will depend mainly on the ability of manufacturers to produce enough to build up stocks in retail stores.

Small articles, such as electric irons, alarm clocks, and aluminum utensils are already available in limited quantities, and may be fairly plentiful in early 1946.

But manufacturers of larger articles, including electric washing machines and refrigerators, is somewhat slower because of the amount of material and labor required to make them.

Production of civilian articles in general is expected to surpass the pre-war rate by the end of 1946 or early 1947. Those of you who have waited for furniture and equipment cases will come a little later, since heavy military releases of these articles did not come until V-J Day.

It is probable that the price of most household equipment will be slightly higher than 1942 prices. Furniture prices advanced during the war. Prices will increase and will be affected by lack of hardwood lumber.

Household textiles will be increasing at varying rates. Towels should appear on the markets in increased volume by the beginning of 1946. Increased supplies of sheets and pillow cases will come a little later, since heavy military releases of these articles did not come until V-J Day.

A Message Concerning Telephones For Farmers

One of our most important peacetime activities, supplying telephones in farm areas, has been resumed and is being expanded as rapidly as equipment and materials are available.

Considerable time and equipment will be required to build the lines and install the facilities necessary to extend service to all areas.

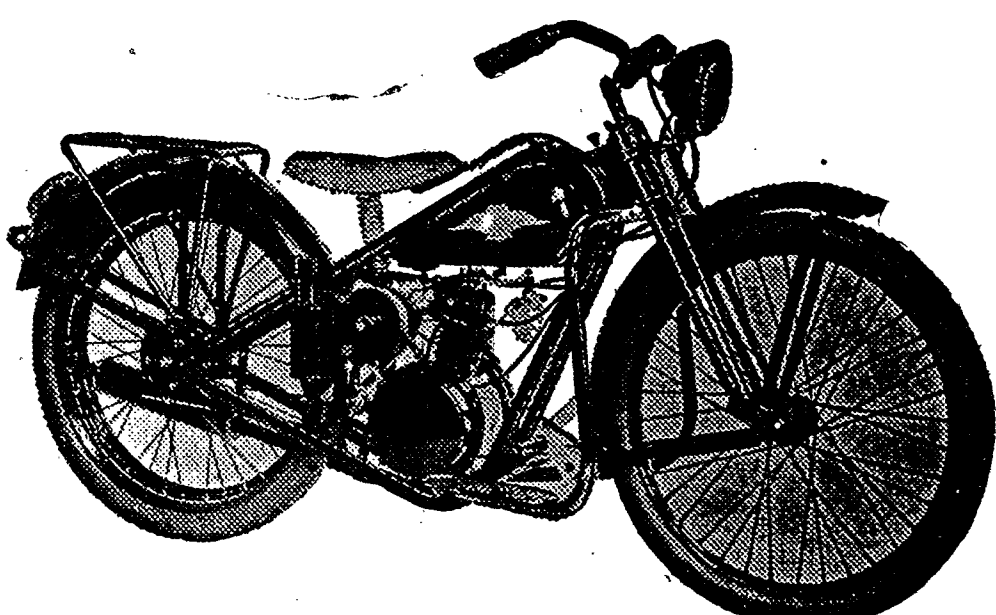

You will be glad to know, however, that we have started our rural development activities and are expanding the work to bring telephones to additional farm communities just as fast as we can.

SELF-REGULATION

A Wholesome Deterrent

This Committee's work to see that beer is sold only in wholesome surroundings by responsible businessmen who regard their retail beer permits as privileges they will not abuse has not gone unrewarded.

For example, read this letter from a prominent District Attorney:

"In my district we have three counties where beer is legal and two where beer is not sold... My observation has been that in these three counties where beer is sold the over-all or general conduct of the establishments has been law abiding... I find that the work of your Committee acts as a wholesome and healthy deterrent to any consistent or organized lawlessness."

This evidence that those who sell beer are aware of their responsibility and recognize their obligation to observe the spirit and the letter of the law is proof of the soundness of this industry's Self-Regulation Program.

—Schools, most of the business houses and banks closed for the Carnival season and the entire town seemed as depleted of inhabitants as the town of Hamelin was of rats after the advent of the Pied Piper. There are so many visitors who have not had the opportunity of viewing this pageant because of there being no celebration for the years of the war and the resident population was as eager as the natives not having had the opportunity for so long of seeing the never old parades and attending the brilliant balls.
